Court Records is a company that provides comprehensive online records searches in many categories. They have been dedicated for years to systematically gather more databases, sources and data center links to provide the members with the highest possible level of investigation services. The database is primarily US based but you will be able to lookup information about people in the United States, Canada and United Kingdom - they claim to have the most databases and data centers available for these three countries. Also, there are a few options for people living elsewhere in the world.

Practically any information except for very sensitive personal information such as financial and credit card data, i.e. passwords and full account numbers, is available on the Internet. Other than that you might be able to uncover a lot of data about mostly anyone. It is a vital security precaution not to allow Social Security numbers to be available publicly. If you uncover that your information contains some sensitive data you will be able to notify the proper institutions to request them to remove the information. The information can not be changed from the web site.

At Court Records, you will receive precise and fast results. You will have instant access to criminal records, driving offenses, arrest records, civil court records, and bankruptcy records. In addition, you can perform background checks or access CourtRecords.org's reverse lookup system which allows the user to identify cell phone numbers, email addresses, as well as land addresses and phone numbers.

Membership at Court Records will provide you with access to all available searches and records. Memberships are secure one-time-only transactions, and your credit card will never be automatically rebilled at any time.
